

The Honorable L. Scott Lingamfelter

for

1st Congressional District Republican National Delegate

“We are facing the most important Presidential election in our lifetime. This year, 2020, it is vital that we get behind President Trump. Unity is essential, which is why I am running to be our National Delegate to the Republican National Convention. The stakes are simply too high. We must do all we can to reelect Donald J. Trump as our President and stop the socialists dead in their tracks.”

L. Scott Lingamfelter
Colonel US Army (Retired)

L. Scott Lingamfelter was raised in Richmond, Virginia, where he attended public and parochial schools. He then attended the Virginia Military Institute (VMI) in Lexington, Virginia, where he earned a B.A. in History in 1973 and the University of Virginia where he was awarded an MA in Government and Foreign Affairs. After graduating from VMI as a Distinguished Military Graduate (DMG), he was commissioned in the Regular Army of the United States and began a career as a Field Artilleryman and a Middle East Foreign Area Officer (FAO).

After retiring from the military, he was elected to the Virginia House of Delegates from 2002 to 2018 representing Prince William and Fauquier Counties. Colonel Lingamfelter is a firm adherent to the Founders' vision of constitutional and limited government. He was a prominent voice for both fiscal and social conservatism in the General Assembly.

Since retiring from the General Assembly, he has become an author with the publication of his first book, Desert Redleg: Artillery Warfare in the First Gulf War. He has recently finished a second book on reviving the revolutionary spirit of America's founding fathers in today's culture. Colonel Lingamfelter also routinely contributes to the commentary page of the Washington Times on a range of national security topics where he has been a staunch supporter of the President's national security and defense priorities and initiatives.

Colonel Lingamfelter and the former Shelley Glick of Bridgewater, Virginia have been married for the past 40 years. They have three children and four grandchildren and are active members of All Saints Church in Woodbridge, Virginia.

“For 16 Years, my motto as a Virginia Delegate was ‘Promise Made – Promise Kept.’ I’m glad President Trump does the same. We simply must reelect him to Keep America Strong!”
