Vol. 5, No. 3

President Donald J. Trump

“There is no Plan B!”

Words of President Trump? No, Rush Limbaugh, radio talk-show host, urging listeners to recognize how crucial it is to vote to re-elect President Trump in the November 3 election.

With 80 million voters expected to weigh-in on the candidate of their choice it's encouraging that close to that number have already cast their votes in early-voting across the country. None are so naïve to believe that voter fraud and corrupted officials aren't already hard at work to shape the election outcome. The same goes for the propagandist media which has put all their resources into propping up a weak Democrat presidential candidate who, if elected, is likely to be “retired” almost immediately and his running mate elevated to the presidency. Frankly, any outcome other than President Trump's re-election is downright frightening for America and the West!

Violence is being threatened across the country in the election aftermath, no matter which candidate wins. Windows and doors of businesses are being boarded up now in large cities, including Washington, D.C., amid these threats. Business and homeowners who have been suffering the onslaught of BLM, Antifa, and others who want to overthrow this country are preparing for the worst, recognizing this nation's law enforcement have been hung out to dry in some areas and are stretched to the max in others.

How is it possible to prepare for this type of civil (is there anything 'civil' about it?) disobedience given these circumstances? Best advice: Have some supplies on hand, recognizing that supply-chains may be further disrupted from what we are experiencing now. Be alert to your surroundings, no matter where you are, and if you see something that doesn't look right, say something. Support your local law enforcement.

How can we help now? Vote, of course! Call neighbors and friends to make sure they vote. Give rides to the polls. If you haven't already volunteered, help staff a Middlesex County Republican Committee Meet & Greet tent, November 3—there will be one at each of the six precinct locations: Deltaville Rescue Squad building, YMCA building in Hartfield, Cryer Center in Locust Hill, Cooks Corner east of Saluda, Urbanna Fire House, and Hermitage Baptist Church in Jamaica. Bring your smile and optimism. The last thing needed is for anyone to hear that "We're headed into a dark winter...". The only way it will be dark is if President Trump is not re-elected!

Gade for Senate* campaign needs our financial support now!

Campaign contributions have been pouring into this extremely important challenge by Republican Dr. Dan Gade to unseat U.S. Senator Mark Warner, particularly since the revealing debates between these two. While Warner hemmed and hawed, Dr. Gade demonstrated time and again that he clearly recognizes problems faced by Virginians and this country. And, he has plenty of workable ideas how to help resolve them. But, current contributions are not enough to get Daniel Gade's television ads and printed flyers to voters these last days of the campaign. Warner (and all Virginia Democrat candidates) is benefitting from out-of-state large campaign donations, many of which are from political action committees backed by George Soros.

Maoist groups in Virginia? Skipping the obvious—Black Lives Matter—when asked about Maoist organizations operating in Virginia, Trevor Loudon (remember when he warned about China and Communist activities at the MCRC fundraiser for Corey Stewart?) responded:

“New Virginia Majority (NVM) has exploited Virginia’s changing population and ‘liberal bleed out’ from the Washington area to flip not just Northern Virginia but also districts across the state. Based in Alexandria and Richmond, NVM has sent hundreds of paid workers and volunteers out across the commonwealth to register and send to the polls hundreds of thousands of new voters—all under the nose of the Virginia Republican Party.” – Trevor Loudon

NVM is a front for Liberation Road, known until April this year as Freedom Road Socialist Organization (FRSO), the United States’ most influential Maoist organization.

Need a Laugh...today? With what’s gone on attempting to silence the New York Post and its breaking, documented story about Hunter Biden, plus the main stream media ignoring the swearing-in of Supreme Court Justice Amy Coney Barrett, in addition to a long list of lies being purported daily as factual news, this bumper sticker seems fitting. Yes, it’s real. It is on a Virginia car, but I don’t want to publish the owner’s license plate number.

Are President Trump’s actions really “unconstitutional” as his liberal critics claim? The answer to this question has troubled me for months. It’s a statement the Democrats throw at the President constantly. I’m no constitutional scholar, but I can read the United States Constitution (and so can they). Certainly there are times I have concluded “this may not be constitutional”. But, none can I lay specifically at the feet of President Trump, but rather his predecessors.

The most egregious violation, in my opinion, is the U.S. government getting involved in our health care. This door was opened many years ago with the advent of Medicare and has only gotten worse with government bureaucrats overseeing and second-guessing physicians and their diagnoses, telling them what’s wrong with patients and what isn’t, and exercising power over these professionals and our health care with tax dollars.

Another violation, in my opinion, is the federal government's granting tax dollars for all kinds of activities, good and bad depending on your frame of reference, and the leveraging it exercises over grant recipients. Way too many laws and executive orders are influenced and decided because of grant money. Tell me you haven't heard some individual or agency rep say, "We can't do this or that or we won't get 'our' grant money." I definitely have heard President Trump's admonition that either a locality must abide by law and order or federal grants will be withdrawn (good admonition, in my opinion).

As an aside, President Abraham Lincoln was the first president to use a grant to achieve an outcome. It was before the War Between the States and Indiana was divided as to loyalties to the United States and the Confederacy. Lincoln gave federal money to Indiana to have a train track run through the state if they agreed to support the United States, which they did. So, President Lincoln started the federal grant system which has continued to give considerable clout on the federal level (think EPA, for example) over state and local laws and practices.

PARTING THOUGHT:

"Freedom is never more than one generation away from extinction. We didn't pass it to our children in the bloodstream. It must be fought for, protected, and handed on for them to do the same."

- Ronald Reagan, 40th president of the United States
